

RANCHO SANTA FE REVIEW

February 19, 2009

Jo Myers, Violet MacDonald, Millie Lichow

Eleanor Brewer, Vicki Johnson

Barbara Gagnon, Sharrie Woods, Nancy Hoffmann

Mary G. Walker, Dr. Sara Fassihl

Marie Busco, Jo Zolin

Robert and Teresa O'Connor

Dorothy Thomson, Lydia Osak, Jean Harris

Wolfgang Horn, Karina Lion, Erika Horn

Lisa Norton, Catryn Fowler, Stephanie Unruh

Pete Shearer, Denise Ankerson, Linda Freilberg, Glen Freilberg

Anne Meridlen, Ramon Garcia, Aune Garcia

SDCO concert enthralls audience

Audience members at the Del Mar Country Club in Rancho Santa Fe responded to the performance of Franz Joseph Haydn's masterpiece "The Creation" by the San Diego Chamber Orchestra and the Bach Collegium San Diego chorus on Feb. 10, with enthusiasm and a standing ovation. It was a full house and included members of the Harvard Club San Diego.

Guest conductor Ruben Valenzuela (founder and music director of Bach Collegium San Diego) led the exceptional ensemble of period-style singers that captured the original style of the period and the orchestra, well-known for offering their audience members memorable music experiences.

Three outstanding guest artists sang the parts of Gabriel and Eve, Uriel, Raphael and Adam: Soprano Anne-Marie Dicce, Tenor Vladimir Maric and Bass John Polhamus.

The orchestra is scheduled to perform a unique Mendelssohn program, including a dramatic presentation of A Midsummer Night's Dream (with actors) and another child prodigy, violinist Jay Oh, performing Mendelssohn's Violin Concerto, in March.

Tickets are also now available for The Magic of Music, a much-anticipated gala for the San Diego Chamber Orchestra, scheduled for March 28 at the Estancia La Jolla Hotel and Spa.

Tickets: 858-350-0290 or www.sdco.org. For more details, www.sdco.org. Photos/Jon Clark